DATE: June 4, 2020

Dear NDNU Community,

A Message from Notre Dame de Namur's (NDNU's) President, Dan Carey

The tragic events of the past few days remind us that we live in an imperfect world. A world in which prejudice, racism and intolerance are still ever-too-present barriers for the most vulnerable in our communities, in our society and in our world.

I want to reaffirm the commitment of our University to diversity, opportunity and social justice for all people. We seek to create a community of inclusiveness. One that showcases an environment of belonging and sharing as we strive to understand and accept the differences that make the fabric of our society strong.

The NDNU community welcomes, celebrates, promotes and respects the full spectrum of the human experience. We pray for the communities and businesses impacted by the violence and vandalism of the few. However, we support peaceful protest and join in solidarity with the oppressed and those unfairly targeted and marginalized. - President Dan Carey
