Launching Lives of Purpose

Notre Dame de Namur University has long been recognized for the excellence of our programs in education. Presently, NDNU offers four credentials and four master's degrees within the education department in the School of Education and Psychology. Many of our alumni are active teachers and administrators in San Mateo County and throughout the peninsula. Personalized attention and individualized advising for students, field oriented programs, and successful placement of credential graduates have characterized the teacher education program since its inception in 1953.
